Oregon Scientific, Inc. Minimum Advertised Price (MAP) Policy

In order to reinforce the high quality image and value of our Oregon Scientific branded products in the marketplace. Oregon Scientific, Inc. has established a Minimum Advertised Pricing (MAP) and an accompanying MAP implementation and enforcement policy on select Oregon Scientific products effective June 1, 2008.

The Oregon Scientific, Inc. MAP policy applies to select OS branded products (see current OS price list). The Minimum Advertised Pricing must be displayed without any strike through or other obliteration of MAP. The MAP may not be accompanied by a lower price for the featured product. Oregon Scientifics MAP policy applies to all forms of advertising including catalogs, flyers, mailings, newspaper advertising, radio advertising, television advertising, and any other forms of advertising including the Internet and other electronic vehicles or networks. Specific to pricing information on an Internet Web Site, any price information that can be accessed directly through a hypertext link or by any other means of which uses the hypertext transfer protocol (http) is considered to be advertising under this policy. This also applies to the "Buy it now" option on eBay, or other bid sites irrespective of shipping and handling fees. An email being sent to a consumer in response to a request for pricing information is not considered to be advertising. MAP product can not be listed on any Distribution product feed programs for internet, catalog or promotional fulfillment.

The first infraction of Oregon Scientifics MAP policy will be met with a warning. A second offense will result in immediate forfeiture of all rights to purchase and sell Oregon Scientific product. It is Oregon Scientifics unilateral policy to terminate any distributor/reseller found in violation of these standards. Hence forth all current and new distributors/resellers of Oregon Scientific products must be officially authorized.

Oregon Scientific, Inc. reserves the right to modify this MAP policy at any time.
